THE POLO BAR

RALPH LAUREN

I am so thrilled to announce that our first restaurant in New York City, The Polo Bar, located next to our new Polo Store on 55th Street at Fifth Avenue, is opening today. As a born and bred New Yorker, I've always wanted to have a restaurant in my hometown so The Polo Bar is a dream come true for me.

Joining RL in Chicago and Ralph's in Paris, The Polo Bar is our latest addition to the world of Ralph Lauren restaurants, and another expression of how we enjoy sharing good food and togetherness in a unique environment.

I could not be prouder of this company achievement, and I sincerely thank all of the talented employees, craftspeople, and industry experts who have worked on the launch of The Polo Bar. Please come by and enjoy it for yourself.

I'll see you there —

Ralph Lauren
