Our success is measured by the extent to which we meet client needs, exceed their expectations, and add value to their operations. The bottom line is helping nonprofit organizations attain their objectives and accomplish their missions.

Bill Haller, former managing partner of CapinCrouse

We are pleased to have met so many high-caliber candidates recently. It's people like you who get us excited about the future of accounting!

Though we are a traditional, full-service CPA firm, we have chosen to serve mostly faith-based nonprofit clients. As a niche firm, we are chock full of experts and industry leaders who are trusted advisors to NPOs.

The people who are happiest at CapinCrouse are inspiring, passionate, and service-minded individuals who work well in teams. They're the kind of people you want to spend a lot of time with--in the office, in the car, on a plane, and talking and laughing with over many, many meals. They make audit work FUN.

At CapinCrouse, we go out in small groups to client sites to perform their audits. We travel to big cities and small towns, to places where there are countless entertainment and culinary options for post-work hangouts as well as to locales where the best restaurant in town is a barbecue joint.

What makes all the difference at CapinCrouse is the people. We really do like each other. We're a firm of 160 associates with 22 partners, spread out over 15 locations. And the thread that ties us all together is that we want to see nonprofit organizations thrive.

Does using your accounting skills for the good of nonprofits resonate with you the way it does us? If so, we'd love to keep in touch as your college career continues!
