Ready to make a change but unsure of where to begin? Leaping into a new career doesn't mean starting from square one. You've spent years honing your expertise—we'll help you translate that into a business that lets you claim full autonomy over when and how you work.

Why freelance medical writing?

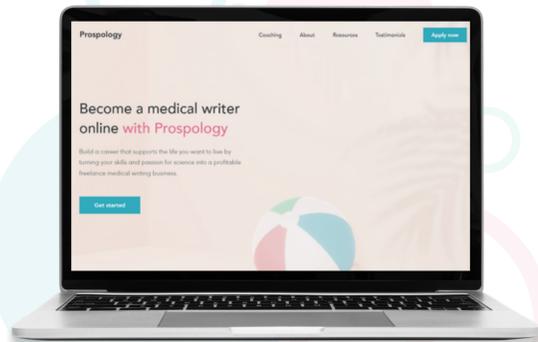

As a healthcare professional or scientific researcher, you have a wealth of knowledge ready to transform into a profitable, flexible career. And the best part is: in the lucrative world of remote, freelance writing, you're already considered an expert! You don't need a PhD or to go back to school to be successful—you just need to know where to start.

We'll show you how to be well-compensated doing exactly the kind of medical writing you want, working from anywhere in the world, by building on your existing knowledge and skills.

Prospology

Helping healthcare providers & scientists build thriving freelance medical writing businesses around the world.

Our Grads Get Results

I knew my knowledge and experience as a critical care nurse was valuable. So, I took the leap of faith. I had a client within three weeks of starting the program and two more before graduating.

Allison, Pennsylvania, USA
Cardiac nurse & freelance writer

Prospology was a huge help in guiding me in establishing my own business. A week after graduating, I won a major contract and was capable of negotiating a higher rate than ever before—$9,000.

Maria, Maryland, USA
Physiotherapist turned freelance writer

I was fully booked in my first week as a freelancer! I saved months of trial and error by working with Prospology. If you are willing to put in the effort, this program is for you, and I guarantee you will reap the benefits.

Amy, Milan, Italy
Full-time medical writer turned freelancer

Prospology taught me what works and what doesn't in the "real" world. As a clinician with little experience in freelancing, this program helped me learn more about running a business than any other courses I have taken.

Jen, Georgia, USA
ER physician turned freelance writer & editor

I'd say I couldn't have imagined in my wildest dreams I'd be where I am today, but these are my wildest dreams! Over the past three months, my work-life balance has completely transformed.

Tiffany, Santa Barbara, USA
Retail pharmacist & freelance writer

It's happening! I got a message on LinkedIn from a company that does VR-type work in radiology and this is exactly what I'm looking for! I haven't been this excited about anything in years. YEARS.

Heidi, Alberta, Canada
Radiology technologist & freelance writer

Prospology pushed me in ways I had never been pushed before, while providing all the support I needed. In my final month, a colleague said: "That course has changed your whole outlook on life". They were right!

Shân, Cape Town, South Africa
Business writer turned medical writer
