

We're Racing Toward the Future ⚡

Innovation. Impact. Inspiration. That's WVU.

Mountaineers don't slow down.

At West Virginia University, we're racing toward the future — working every day to uplift communities, transform lives, and fuel real, lasting change. With leaders like Dr. Patrice Harris at the helm, we're challenging the status quo and empowering the next generation of doers and dreamers at the same time.

Dr. Harris's journey reflects the heart of WVU: a belief that education should not only inspire learning, but also create opportunity — at home, across our state, and on the national stage.

“West Virginia University is home. It's a place where you come to be inspired to learn, but also inspired to have the opportunity to impact communities and give back.” Dr. Harris says.

At WVU, innovation isn't a buzzword — it's a mindset.

“We have to look toward the future. We have to look toward innovation. We have to think differently,” Dr. Harris says.

That commitment drives how we build connections, solve problems, uplift communities, and change countless lives.

Your support helps fuel that momentum. Thank you for being part of our mission — and for believing in a brighter future for all.
